

Minor surgery, complex service of removing 3–5 skin growths

An eye-shaped incision is made under local anaesthesia and a skin area with growths or a subcutaneous growth is removed. In most cases, the removed tissue sample is sent for further testing in order to identify its exact nature. The wound is closed with skin stitches.