

Inserting the intrauterine contraceptive device or the coil

The intrauterine contraceptive device or the coil is a contraceptive which is inserted inside the uterus to prevent pregnancy.

The device shall be installed by a woman's doctor during an appointment. Analyses and examinations should be performed beforehand.